

LEE WHITLOCK

There is a young man making a name for himself in British television and as that name is Whitlock I thought it is time we recognized him. While only 14 Lee Whitlock has worked with Elizabeth Taylor, Rock Hudson and Edward Fox and has recently landed a plum role in the new series "Shine on Harvey Moon". The series is set just after the war and Lee plays the son of a recently demobbed RAF clerk, Harvey Moon. Lee seems to have gotten into acting almost by accident while taking his younger sister, Emma to the Corona Stage School, London. His promise to his Dad that he would pay his own fees appears to have been more than kept as he has had parts in an Agatha Christie thriller, a Sherlock Holmes film and episodes of the series, Cribb, Spooner's Patch, and The Gentle Touch.
