Dear Peter,

Thanks for your letter, and am glad to see what you can do with your own letter head on the printer. However, for this time will still use the typewriter. Had gotten ON-Lines "Screen writer", but haven't mastered it yet. Am still searching out more family information, and have been putting in the Drury line on the disk. Didn't think I could get both sides of the family, with all their children, on a single disk, so am dividing my charts. AppleRoots only give three digits for their numbering system, so have had to re-number my names, as I had been listing them, for example, as No. 6 on sheet 3. Started with myself as No. 1, then my father as No. 2, but that didn't leave a number for my spouse, so have lots to learn. Haven't been able to locate anyone else around here either that has a Apple Roots.

Sent for Thomas Roach's "Whitlock Gleanings", only to find a few pages on Canadian lines. However, on p. 298 there is listed a William Whitlock, who died at Sussex, 1821, at 55 (or born 1766), that could have been my William's father. And a Jane Whitlock, dau of William and Jane, who died Apr. 17, 1807, at 2 years, who could have been his sister, as he was born July, 1801. But don't know how to go from there.

Will send along a copy of my Drury family index, however, without a Pedigree Chart, it is difficult to follow. Suppose I could run a 4 generation chart, then keep repeating them, that would show the lines. Say again, I have lots to learn. This Apple Roots program that I have was only $39.95, but they had a Roots /M by Commosoft that had regular Family Group sheets that would make it easier to follow. Think it was $169.95, so took Apple's to start out with. Besides it wouldn't run on the Apple without additional equipment.

In the magazine "in Cider", a writer says not to try to do it all at once, take one thing at a time, so that's my approach for now.

Sincerely, Cuma
