Dear Peter,

I recently recieved the Whitlock Newsletters for which many thanks. I think that the brochure is very good, but did you know that there is a place in south Devon called 'Whitlocksworthy'? Well not so much a place as a cross roads, but there is a farm there called Whitlock's farm.

Mentioned in the Newsletters is about 8 pages of Whitlock's in Peters Marland. Is this the same as in the folder that you left for me, as I never found anything about these people in the Marland registers.

You have mentioned about pages of miscellaneous Devon extracts from Jim Whitlock of Plymouth. I don't suppose that my William Whitlock, who was supposed to have been born in Langtree around 1787 has turned up in those extracts has he?.

I have been doing a lot of work on my Mothers family recently and while searching the 1851 census for Shadwell in east London I found the following entry.

Name	Status	Age	Occupation	Place of birth
WBY-16 David Whitlock	Head/Mar	27	Boatbuilder	Middx, Shadwell
Amelia Whitlock	Wife/Mar	28		Middx, St George in the east
David Whitlock	Son	3		Middx, Stepney
Edward Whitlock	Son	1 L1849		Middx, Shadwell

I assume that you have heard about the Doomsday project being done over here recently. Well in a Sunday paper some time ago now they were talking about people that can trace their families back the original Doomsday book and two women are mentioned that can do just that. I quote..

Cousins Joanna Warrend and Patricia Whitlock can trace their ancestry through the Lingen family back to Thursten Fitzrolf, a standard bearer to William the Conquerer.

...Thats it though.

Anyway I hope to hear from you about the above two queries, and I have enclosed my Main Line as I have it now, you may want to include it in a later newsletter.

With regards to the family,

Sincerely

John Whitlock

P.S. I found the enclosed photographs of 'Whitlocksworthy' which I thought you may like.
