Dear Peter,

First, I appreciate all the trouble you took to send me all the material you did. It took me awhile to digest it, and I am still doing so actually. You mentioned that you have your indexes on disk. I would love to have a copy of that disk whenever you have time. There is one file in particular Love and it is that I would like to the one that has Rufus Adrian Whitlock on it.

Now, I think I may have discovered the home and burial place of Bennett Whitlock (1790-1859). There is? Help M Main Menu P PrevMsg - PrevPage place of Bennett Whitlock (1790-1859). There is an old old Whitlock cemetery without any stones in it, I am told, and it is on the site of the Bennett Whitlock home, not the later home of Bennett William Whitlock (1849-1928). Betty Adams had once gotten a letter from a Robert Little who claimed to know where the original Whitlock home was. She did not know if he was still living or not. I talked later to Mike Becknell, president of the SCGS, Pinckneyville Chapter. He said he had found that there was an old Whitlock cemetery he had never seen (I think he said he had never seen it). I asked him how to get to it, and he said it was on Bobby Little Road, just off Hwy 9 going from Jonesville to Union. So...Bobby Little and Robert Little must be the same person. I do not know if he is still living or not, but Mike Becknell said he did not know either, but his son Warren Little lives across from it and knows where it is. So, on my trip down 70% did not know either, but his son Warren Little lives across from it and knows where it is. So, on my trip down there, I am going to ferret it out. Am I telling you something you already know? I hope not. It would be nice to contribute something for a change.

One more thing. Stokes Whitlock. In the 1850 census, there is a ?arks Whitlock listed living with Bennett Whitlock. I felt that ?arks and Stokes are too close for coincidence. He was listed as being 32 years old, making him born ca 1818. Is this too great a leap? From ?arks to Stokes? The spe

Well, Peter, I hope I have contributed something anyway. Let me hear from you. Robert P.S. Did you write a book about llamas and yaks? I saw it listed in Amazon Books online.

Robert: Yes, I have both the Vaughan books in the files. R1586/27 and R1587/32. Sometime you might be interested in having a copy of my indexes on a disk. This will enable to you search my files and find items that might be of help to you. There is an enormous amount of SC
