Subject: [ENG-SOM] Stole/Stoke & Clk/Clerk

Thank you everyone who answered my question about William SHARGOOL. I think he must have been clerk to George Watts Atty from Bath (where the Shargools lived) and that the document was from Stoke. I do not know why I didn't think of that because the Shargools were clerks if they were not musicians (or clergy), for several generations! I had the phrase "his mark" in mind and "his clerk" was so obvious. Dian in OZ

PS for Sue: does Celia WHITLOCK, embroidery teacher, later Celia Syred children's author, mean anything?
