Hi Peter:

In searching the Booth & Powers side of my mom's family I came across the following in hawleysociety.org:

Benjamin M. Whitlock (no parents listed) married: November 19, 1846 Maria Louisa Hawley (b. May 26, 1824; d. Nov 19, 1846) issue: Sarah Louisa Whitlock (b. Nov. 16, 1847; d. July 3, 1854) - poor dear died so young.

The real feat is how was she born nearly one year after her mother died? I think she was born in 1846 - perhaps I mis-copied the dates. Not sure where they lived - failed to note that - don't know if it was even there to note.

I tried to check the Whitlock side of it on the Whitlock website but couldn't find a Surname file. I am assuming there isn't one because it would be humungous. So, I didn't know what Whitlock file to check without downloading everything.

Do you have a quick way of checking?

The Hawleys married into most of my family names as have most of the names I've come across.

How's it going with you and Patrick? Tried to find your e-mail where you gave info on when you were going to Hawaii but couldn't find it. If you've been you must be sad to be back - if you haven't been yet, you must be really looking forward to it.

Claudine's somewhat estranged husband was rushed to the hospital with a pulmonary embolism and a pituitary gland run amok - its destroying his thyroid. Yuck. He's having trouble breathing and in a lot of pain. We are just in a waiting game.

Rachel made the Honour Roll (Gold Sticker) this semester and was pissed because she didn't make the Distinguished Honour Roll (Red Sticker) which she has been making for some time. I still think it is a job well done. Haven't heard from Victoria yet. She usually gets on the Honour Roll, too but life has been so hectic for her lately.....

Claudine is working her guts out in her new job and has moved from being an Assistant to a position of requiring an Assistant. Little does her company know that she will be ready to take it all over very soon. Ha, ha. She is like her father.

Ashamed to say I haven't seen Susan in ages but I hear she is back at work. Knowing her, she will have taken this latest experience with a grain of salt. Doing the Brit thing - stiff upper lip, get on with the job, what?

Talk to you soon,
Necia
