"William Samuel PARTLOW - A residence of more than forty-two years in the locality of Liberty, Texas has made William Samuel Partlow one of his community's best known citizens. During this long period he has been identified with general farming, general merchandising and banking, and in each field of endeavor has shown himself a progressive, enterprising citizen and a business man who can be depended upon to contribute to his section's advancement and welfare.

Mr. Partlow was born in Abbeville District, South Carolina, June 26, 185, and is a son of James Young L. Partlow, a Virginian who went to South Carolina and married Miss Mary MARSHALL, a distant relative of Chief Justice John Marshall of the United States Supreme Court. James Young L. Partlow died in 1885 at the age of eighty-five years. He was a millman and during the Civil War he maintained and cared for the soldiers' wives of the neighborhood. He owned slaves himself and released ninety-seven of them with the promulgation of the Emancipation Proclamation, and also owned much land in South Carolina and in Liberty County, Texas, and made occasional visits to Texas in looking after his property. He favored secession and furnished two sons for the Confederate army. Mr. Partlow had the following children: Elizabeth, who married W. W. PERRYMAN and died in San Antonio, Texas; Mary J. who married Joseph RICHARDSON and died at Liberty February 12, 1914; Major John M. who was ! a confederate soldier in the South Carolina command, was wounded in battle, spent his life as a farmer and druggist and died at San Antonio, leaving a family; Belle who died in South Carolina as Mrs. Washington BOZEMAN / BOSEMAN; James A. of Greenwood South Carolina, who was a Confederate soldier in a Texas regiment; Emma, who married R. M. PERRYMAN and died at Liberty, Texas; Julia who married G. W. McKELLER and resides at Cold Spring, Texas; Mattie, who married J. H. FINLEY, of Harden, Texas; William Samuel of this review; Joseph H. a resident of Liberty County, Texas and Lula who died in Greenwood, South Carolina as Mrs. William WHITLOCK.

William Samuel Partlow grew up and was educated in his home locality and completed his schooling at Newberry Collage, Walhollow, South Carolina. His father was a planter, and the young man came to years of maturity with a knowledge of farming, so that when he came to Texas he gave his attention for a few years to the tilling of the soil and the raising of stock. Following this, he became a clerk in a general store in Liberty, and after some experience in this line engaged in business as a merchant on his own account, opening a store with J. F. Richardson. When this partnership ceased he conducted the store alone until his son, Ray Partlow, came into the firm.

In other business affairs Mr. Partlow joined a number of citizens in the purchase of the old First State Bank of Liberty, which was still continued under the same title, and he is first vice president and a director thereof. He has been an agriculturist and has done something substantial in the way of farm development, a property on the Liberty and Livingston road being a farm of his own clearing, and improvement, and another on the "Inside" public road is largely of his clearing. He is strictly a corn farmer and in a modest way has sided the building development of Liberty.

When a young man, Mr. Partlow dipped into politics and was elected county treasurer of Liberty County succeeding treasurer J. B. WRIGLEY and serving two terms. He was then a Democrat and is so still, and in city affairs has been one of the aldermen, it being during his term that the movement was inaugurated that led to the building of the new brick schoolhouse. With his family he is a consistent attendant of the Methodist church.

Mr. Partlow was married in December, 1875 to Miss Ellen BEARD, a daughter of A. J. Beard, who came to Texas from Washington D.C., before the outbreak of the Civil war, and was a teacher in Liberty and Harris Counties and also served as a soldier in the ranks of the Confederate army. He spent his last years as a farmer. Mr. Beard married Miss JOHNSON for his first wife, and Mrs. Partlow is the only one of their children to grow to maturity. His second wife was Miss SKINNER, and they had a child, Roswell A., now of Houston.

Mr. And Mrs. Partlow have the following children: Bessie V., a resident of Liberty; Ray M., his father's partner in the mercantile business, who married Elenett BROWNING; Nannie, who married M. P. DANIELS, of Liberty and has two children: M. P. Jr and Ellen V.; Roswell G., a civil engineer in the employ of a rice planter of Dayton, Texas married Miss Voe CALHOUN; W. Dozier, who is a teacher in the public schools; and Miss Miriam, who resides with her parents." end
