Thanks very much for the information. I did discover Peter Whitlock's website at the same time that I saw your letter. I've copied this note to him. I am a great grandson of Sandy Wallace Whitlock (born: December 21, 1879; died September 23, 1958). He was married to Elizabeth Gertrude McClelland (born: 1878; died July 3, 1959). "Wally" and "Liz" (as they were called) had three children: Gertrude Blanche Whitlock (born: February 28, 1904; died February 28, 1969; married name: Macdonald). Gertrude is my maternal grandmother. Phyllis Bernice Whitlock (born: May 26, 1908; died September 6, 2000; married name: Young). Bernice is my great aunt. Robert Wallace Whitlock (born: October 20, 1914; died September 7, 2001). My great uncle. The Whitlock family lived at 55 Ritchie Avenue in Toronto from about 1912 to 1960. The house is still there on the east side of Toronto. My great aunt Bernice told me about the time when she was a girl that they removed the gas lighting from 55 Ritchie and installed electricity. Sandy Wallace Whitlock's parents were Robert and Lavinia Whitlock. Lavinia lived to be 101 years old. As a girl, my mother remembers visiting Lavinia in Toronto during the 1930s. Thanks again for the information. If I can be any assistance to you, I'll certainly do what I can, though I'm not sure what branch of the Whitlocks you're in. I image you're familiar with Peter's website which covers a wider range of the Whitlock tribe.> > LJ Otis > > -----Original Message-----> From: "Paul Houle" [paul.houle@telus.net]> Date: 07/15/2012 07:46 PM> To: ljotis@excite.com> Subject: Whitlock Family History> > Note: Original message sent as attachment
