Phone Etiquette

● When his overly chatty girlfriend simply wouldn't stop talking, David Schmidt invented the modern-day version of a polite conversation closer, a gallant goodbye. "Gotta Go," the gadget invented by Schmidt (right, with partner Dave Whitlock), simulates the interruptive clicks of call-waiting at the touch of a button—whenever you want. Brisk sales have gotten the pair's new company, Eclipse Products, off and running—an apt beginning for a firm dedicated "to developing products that deal with life's little annoyances." "Gotta Go" goes for $19.95. To order, call: 1-800-247-2570.
